It was brought to our attention thru a newsletter that there has been discussion about raising the level of the lakes. My husband and I are amongst a number of people in our subdivision who are very concerned about this. Not only would it effect our newly acquired lakefront property by erosion and flooding, it would also take away the beach area at a nearby marsh protected by E.R.C.A. It could wipe out homes and property in our little community that we have all worked so hard to accumulate and maintain. Just this past weekend with the high waves that we were getting and with the level of Lake Erie being at the level that it is now, there has already been land lost, the North beach at Hillman Marsh is now swallowed up with water and we lost some land on our newly acquired lakefront property, I would hate to imagine just how disastrous it would be if the lake level were any higher. So, if there is a vote..both my husband David and I,Joyce Ward, vote no to raising the level of the water.
